

Kumamoto University's Correspondence to the Outbreak of the COVID-19
(Protocol Version 21)

In order to control/prevent the virus transmission, all faculty members, professors, and students of Kumamoto University (hereafter KU) are requested to take measures including the following but not limited to;

- Cover your mouth and nose with your sleeve or anything else other than your palms when cough or sneeze
- Wash your hands properly and frequently (rub alcohol hand-sanitizer* on to your hands and between fingers) *in the case of its being difficult to find hand-sanitizer, use hand soap and wash hands under running water instead

Please note that all precautions should be taken as if to prevent other infectious diseases such as common cold and influenza.

Also, since there is the significant number of transmission cases by people, who have no symptoms shown, has been reported, these asymptomatic/pre-symptomatic coronavirus carriers are most likely contributing to the rapid spread of the coronavirus. Therefore, changing your way of thinking must be done, and you should think that you are one of these asymptomatic/pre-symptomatic coronavirus carriers and consider what each one of you should or should not do in your daily life to prevent from transmitting the virus you might carry to the others around you. This should be considered as “the new normal.”

1. Correspondence of Faculty Members and Students

- b. When attending any events which are held at a venue where it is poorly ventilated, densely crowded, also a high risk of having unpredictable contacts with an unspecified majority is present, you should make your judgement corresponding to the Notification mentioned above, since these venues are considered at a high risk of making clusters.
- c. As for other events, re-consideration of its necessity, detailed planning, and precautions for virus prevention should be taken in measure.
- d. In particular, refrain from holding any workshops, parties, or events which involve face-to-face conversations and a high possibility of close contact among participants. As for other gatherings such as welcome/farewell parties, if enough prevention measure cannot be taken, do not plan to hold.

[Infection Prevention]

- a. Take safety measures in order to keep social-distancing from others such as limiting the duration of meetings, ventilating rooms frequently, dividing and scattering members to use various venues, and having online meetings.
- b. If face-to-face work is necessary, ensure to keep the social distance between each other to prevent the infection.

2. Establishing the Crisis Management Headquarters for COVID-19

For the prevention and the control of the spread of virus infection/transmission, KU has established the Crisis Management Headquarters.

Any decisions to be made by the Crisis Management Headquarters will be notified via e-mails or posted on University Portal.

To accommodate to the constantly-changing situation, the Headquarters will monitor the following section "3. Assumable Future Events" contents closely, make appropriate decisions to overcome each equivalent situation, and inform all staff members and students regarding the future countermeasures; therefore, please beware of any new information to be released.

3. Assumable Future Events

- ① A confirmed case or a suspected case found among the University staff members and students (including their co-living family members)
- ② A suspected case of a secondary transmission/infection originated by a University staff member or a student

4. KU's Correspondence to the Above Events

① and ② Closure of classes and/or Closure of University

* This is subject to change as each situation will be observed, then an appropriate solution will be proposed
